

The 'Bundy Mo Bros' prepare James Stanfield to shave down and grow back his lip hair for Movember.

In slow mo, but NOT WIMPS

JAMES Stanfield from Bundaberg Regional Council led the waste sector in to Movember to help raise awareness and funds for men's health issues.

Stanfield's father is currently fighting prostate cancer and, a few months back, his younger brother took his own life after suffering depression: "I have decided Movember is a fantastic opportunity for me to strike a blow in reducing the incidence of these horrific illnesses," he said.

His story helped inspire other members of the industry to rally under the team banner of None Other Than Waste Industry Movember Participants - better known as NOT WIMPS.

There were plenty of other Mos also spotted around waste circles, and here's a selection of the best (and worst) of them! Thanks to everyone who supported the team.

The new look for Intec's corporate development manager Dave Sammut was a hit at Vic EPA's HazWaste Expo on November 10.

Inside Waste editor Garth Lamb wore a full beard for 12 years - and will be growing it back pronto!

The changing face of WMAA president Ron Wainberg, who hadn't previously bared his chin since 1968.

your key to building a cleaner future

...welcome to the world of Wastech. Creating innovative products and solutions for the recycling and waste industries. From our revolutionary Smoothtubes - linen, garbage and recycling chutes - through to waste transfer stations, balers, bin lifters, static compactors and an extensive range of bins. Our products have passed the toughest quality, environmental and cost-efficiency demands globally. Let our consultants guide you through a comprehensive range of proven and/or custom designed engineered solutions.

PRODUCTS & SOLUTIONS FOR THE RECYCLING & WASTE INDUSTRIES.

FREE CALL 1800 465 465 OR VISIT WASTECH.COM.AU